

25
UPDATES
TODAY

81°
BROKEN
CLOUDS

Advanced Search

Your Town

Voices

West Valley Preps

Get Out

Your Living

Marketplace

AZ Jobs

Obits

Public Notices

Local News

Culinary delights whet West Valley appetites

Volunteers honor King with service project

Arizona earns grade of D+ in national report on emergency medical care

Home » Business

Title agency moves to Glendale

Story | Comments | Image (1)

Share | Print | Font Size: - +

Tweet 0 | Like

Facebook

Pioneer Title Agency

“Our success is linked to our people — some of whom have been with us since Day One,” says chairman of the board and owner Bob Newlon, who has called Arizona home since 1935 and is a lifetime member of the Land Title Association of Arizona.

For more information about Pioneer Title Agency, visit www.ptaaz.com.

Posted: Thursday, January 16, 2014 12:18 pm

STAFF REPORT

Pioneer Title Agency has opened an office in Glendale at 7111 W. Bell Road.

Formerly housed in a Peoria office, the agency has moved to the larger, street-facing location to accommodate recent growth and to ensure a more convenient location for customers and partners, company officials said.

Lisa Bonner, Paul Jordan, Charis Keller, Cathy Mauro and Martha Candelaria, all currently part of the Pioneer team in the West Valley, will lead the office.

“Family-owned and operated since its inception, Pioneer Title Agency handles all types of real estate transactions, ranging from the smallest secondary loans to the transfer of large sophisticated commercial properties since 1985,” says Bonner, branch manager.

In total, the business has more than 50 offices in more than 35 cities statewide.

PERSONAL FINANCE

Will patient portals open door to better care?

Car purchase usually trumps lease option

Ponzi scheme victim needs legal help

Building credit history takes time

Online shopping deals with growing pains

Sun Health, AARP offer senior finance class

Longevity builds long-